Crop Year 2009 Rice Apportionment

Vandace Shompson

Approved by: Acting Deputy Administrator, Farm Programs

1 Overview

A Background

The Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 (2008 Act) was enacted on June 18, 2008. The 2008 Act, Section 1108 provides that the base acres of rice on a farm shall be apportioned to long grain rice and medium grain rice using either of the following methods:

- the 4-year average of the percentages of acreage planted in the applicable State to long grain rice and medium grain rice
- the 4-year average of the percentages of acreage planted or prevented planted (as determined by the Secretary) on the tract to long grain rice and medium grain rice.

Note: Using this method, if rice was not planted on the tract during 1 of the 4 years, the percentages of acreage planted in the applicable State to long grain rice and medium grain rice will be substituted.

The base period for this apportionment includes crop years 2003 through 2006.

B Purpose

This notice provides guidance to State and County Offices on:

- apportioning rice bases acres by June 1, 2009
- accessing reports to assist in the apportionment.

Note: DCP contracts must be enrolled by June 1, 2009, even if the apportionment has not been completed by June 1, 2009.

2 Rice Apportionment Methods and Limitation

A Rice Apportionment

This apportionment divides the current rice base acres into long grain rice and medium grain rice base acres. The sum of long grain rice and medium grain rice base acres shall be equal to the current rice base acres on each respective tract. The long grain rice and medium grain rice yields shall not be increased or decreased on each respective tract because of this apportionment. For the purpose of this apportionment, medium grain rice includes short grain rice. The apportionment will be completed on CCC-748 (Exhibit 1).

B Rice Apportionment Using the Applicable State Average Method

Owners shall apportion their rice base acres based on the 4-year average of the percentages of acreage planted in the applicable State to long grain rice and medium rice during crop years 2003 through 2006. See Exhibit 2 for an example of this apportionment.

All owners on the tract shall agree, by signing CCC-748, to the calculated apportionment of the rice acres. To determine the long grain rice base acreage for the applicable tract for crop year 2009, multiply the long grain rice base acreage on the tract according to the Rice Base Report by the percentage of long grain rice acreage in the applicable State. The remaining acreage of the long grain rice base acreage shall be apportioned to medium grain rice base acreage. See subparagraph 3 A for long grain rice and medium grain rice acres planted and their respective percentages in each State.

The percentages for the State in which the tract is physically located must be used.

C Rice Apportionment Using 4-Year Average of Planted and Prevented Planted Rice

Owners may choose not to use the method in subparagraph B and apportion the rice base acres on the tract by using the 2003 through 2006 crop years average of planted and prevented planted acres of long grain rice and medium grain rice on the tract. See Exhibit 3 for an example of this apportionment.

If this method is used, all owners on the tract shall agree, by signing CCC-748, to use the 2003 through 2006 crop years prevented planted and planted acres of long grain rice and medium grain rice. The 2003 through 2006 crop years acreage history shall be totaled to calculate a percentage of long grain rice. The percentage of long grain rice shall then be multiplied by the long grain rice base acres to determine the long grain rice base for the applicable tract for crop year 2009. The remaining acreage of long grain rice base acres shall be apportioned to medium grain rice acres.

If a tract has zero rice planted any year from crop year 2003 through 2006, the State percentage of long grain rice planted for the year shall be used in the calculation.

Reports are being provided to assist producers in compiling crop years 2003 through 2006 rice planted and prevented planted acres. See paragraph 3. Prevented planted and planted rice acreage totals on resulting farms of a reconstitution are not reflected on any farm reconstituted after crop year 2006.

Notice DCP-206

D Rice Apportionment Not Made

All owners on farms with rice base acres must complete CCC-748 by COB June 1, 2009. County Offices shall complete CCC-748 using the State average method for all remaining farms with rice base acres or incomplete CCC-748's by COB August 3, 2009.

Note: CCC-748's completed according to this subparagraph shall be annotated to indicate that no selection was made or all owners did not agree as applicable.

Acreages from FSA-578 certifications for crop years 2003 through 2006 were used to compute State acreages.

B Rice Base Report

A new Rice Base Report has been added to the FFAS Intranet. The Rice Base Report:

- can be accessed at http://dc.ffasintranet.usda.gov/farmbill/ccc/default.htm
- lists all crop year 2009 farms and tracts with rice base acreage
- will be used to identify the farms and tracts with rice base acres that must be apportioned.

C Report of Rice P&CP Acreage, 2003 - 2006

A new Report of Rice P&CP Acreage, 2003 – 2006 has been added to Compliance - 2008 Compliance Reports Menu MEALX0.

The Report of Rice P&CP Acreage, 2003 – 2006 will provide a summary of total acreage reported and certified for medium grain and long grain rice for crop years 2003 through 2006 by "Farm" and "Tract".

To access the Report of Rice P&CP Acreage, 2003 – 2006, on Menu MEALX0, ENTER "5", "Report of Rice P&CP Acreage, 2003 -2006". See Exhibit 4.

D Farm Records Management System (FRMS) Changes

FRMS has been modified to convert the crop year 2008 rice base acreage to long grain rice base acres and medium grain rice base acres has been added for the 2009 crop year. Upon completing CCC-748, the County Office must manually adjust the bases in FRMS. County Offices shall use reason code "COC redistribution" for the decrease and corresponding increase of base acreage when adjusting the long grain and medium grain rice base acres.

E Rice Overpayments/Underpayments

The adjustment of rice base acres to long grain and medium grain rice base acres after an advance payment has been issued on rice may result in an overpayment of long grain rice and an underpayment of medium grain rice. County Offices shall follow proper procedure to transfer the long grain rice overpayment to a receivable and offset the medium grain rice payment to the receivable.

Important: Producers should not be paid an additional amount or have a debt because of the rice base apportionment.

F CCC-509

CCC-509 may have been enrolled or approved before completing the rice apportionment. In these situations, County Office employees shall:

- attach a copy of the revised CCC-509 to the original CCC-509
- not require signatures on the newly created CCC-509.

Note: If the apportionment of the rice acreage bases results in different shares, the newly created CCC-509 must be signed.
